

I BRING PEOPLE TOGETHER & EMPOWER THEM TO OVERCOME SHARED BARRIERS

Global Leadership Innovator ∞ Positive Communication/Education ∞
Award-Winning Author ∞ Performance & Evaluation Expert

I HELP ORGANIZATIONS THRIVE BY BRINGING PEOPLE TOGETHER AND FOSTERING CONNECTION.

Driven to create a more equal and just society, I see community as the ideal mechanism for strengthening the impact of organizations. Connecting and collaborating with team members can leverage community generated resources and support for organizations and groups of interest.

Community is essential for creating significant, scalable impact, as well as for building mutually supportive, meaningful relationships.

WHO

ORGANIZATION - I SEEK TO IMPACT TEAMS AND ORGANIZATIONS.

Working at the organizational level enables a scale of change that adds tangible value to the lives of many. Whether I work to advance a nonprofit, for-profit business, or startup, I always look to connect my impact to your team or organization. I leverage this focus to orchestrate better ways to create, build, and run remarkable organizations. I focus on direction, clarity, potential and business insight to drive teams and organizational performance.

WHY

HARMONY - I AM DRIVEN TO ENSURE EVERYONE HAS ACCESS TO OPPORTUNITY.

Consider what the world would look like if everyone was just out for themselves. Pitting people against each other, injustice would spread throughout our communities and the workplace. My approach is one of compassion and empathy, generating harmony and progress that we all can share in. I promote access to equal opportunity, diversity and inclusion.

HOW

COMMUNITY - I BRING GROUPS TOGETHER TO BUILD ENGAGEMENT AND OWNERSHIP.

Participation and leadership fuel the best companies and societies. I strive to bring groups together to build engagement and ownership and I empower groups to solve their own problems through cooperation. My enthusiasm for bringing people together leads to more connected, more successful teams and organizations.

I am a global leadership strategist specializing in leadership and team excellence and an award-winning performance improvement professional with 20 years of experience helping organizations design, develop, deliver and evaluate interventions that boost employee and management performance, enhance the customer experience, and impact organizational effectiveness.

I have received Awards of Excellence from the International Society of Performance Improvement (ISPI) in 2003 and 2011 for Outstanding Instructional Interventions which demonstrated improvements at four levels: reaction to the intervention from participants, learning and confidence, application of the skills and knowledge, and impact to the organization. In 2017, I received the Award of Excellence in Communication on my book, The Apple in the Orchard: a story about finding the courage to emerge as a leader, endorsed by leadership guru, Ken Blanchard.

My strengths include:

- Meeting facilitation towards successful resolution of meeting outcomes, accountabilities, and united focus towards next steps, with a specialization in conflict resolution;
- Facilitation of interactive workshops in English and French to local and global organizations;
- Development of leadership enhancement strategies for management groups;
- The analysis and design of large-scale curriculum and creation of blended learning programs;
- Proposing and designing instructional programs that deliver messages that get heard, accepted, and applied;
- The measurement of impact for all human-related interventions. In 2012, I was welcomed as an International Associate of the ROI Institute, Inc., a research, benchmarking and consulting organization that provides workshops, publications and consulting services surrounding the ROI Methodology™.

Since 2006, I have facilitated and coached trainers through my Train-the-Trainer programs (Needs Assessment, Instructional Techniques, Instructional Design, and an advanced workshop entitled, Exposing Exceptional Performance) to leading organizations including: Pratt & Whitney Canada, Eli Lilly, CN, Emirates, Air Baltic, Alitalia, Air Transat, Turkish Airlines, Exxon Mobil, Bank of Montreal, McGill University and the International Air Transport Association (IATA). My belief is that trainers are leaders who have the challenge of leaving behind in others the will and conviction to carry on; that it is their mission to transfer skills and knowledge and most importantly to inspire performance and the willingness to change once employees return to the job. I have been successful in modeling vital facilitation and leadership skills that guarantee learning and inspire change and emergence.

Leadership development is a passion. In 2009 I founded Harvest Performance to help leaders cultivate trust and collaboration using the 3+1 feedback framework. This model has been adopted and used by participants in my workshops since 2008 to help each other achieve sustained levels of confidence and performance. "As a business partner I found her results focused, committed to achieve, and responsive to our needs. As a participant in her class, I found her inspirational, motivating, and world class." Fiona Kirkham L&D Manager: Quality and Standards at Emirates Airline

I am a Certified Facilitator for Zenger Folkman: the foremost authority in strength-based leadership development, Zenger Folkman helps organizations develop extraordinary leaders who achieve positive business results.

I speak on the topics of leadership, feedback, evaluation and living systems as models for meaningful connection at work. I believe in supporting emerging leaders (of all ages) and am able to carry out my mission by teaching Master's students in Educational Technology at Concordia University, both as part-time faculty and as faculty sponsor for a yearly International Case Competition. In 2014, I was invited to judge the Case Competition, in Indianapolis.

I hold a Master's degree in Educational Technology, as well as an undergraduate degree in Communication Studies received with distinction; these are the foundations for my passion. I am a proud Montrealer and am grateful to have seen a small part of the world through my work. When I am not travelling, I connect passionately with my family; I expose exceptional performance, mentor entrepreneurs and emerging leaders and value continuous learning and growth.

In addition to the skills, education and experience that I bring to all projects, I have incredible enthusiasm and passion for the work that I do. This energy allows me to work through challenges to be able to complete projects successfully and with integrity. The key to achieving success is with solid leadership and effective communication - both of which I continue to perfect in all that I undertake.
